

I sent a letter on concerning proceeding 2-278, but if it does not arrive in time I want to ensure my voice is heard. I want the banks request to call me at home banned and dismissed. I do not want banks or anyone calling me at my home for any reason unless I specifically ask to be notified. If I leave a bank it is because I am unhappy with their service or maybe their products no longer fit my needs. I do not need them to be calling to try and get me back. I pay for use of my phone line not the banks. If I want to do any business with a bank or other business I will contact them. I was interrupted by Bank One at my evening meal the other night to try and sell me products. This is wrong! wrong! wrong! My home is my domain not the banks. Bank One has been notified if I get any more calls I am out of that bank. Since I have been on the INDIANA no call list I have gotten maybe ten phone calls. It is bliss. I applaud the State of Indiana for writing such a strong No-call law and I do not want it watered down by the federal government. I expect the board room and sales people who dream these call at home ideas up are wealthy enough to have private unlisted numbers or cell phones that they are insulated from these invasive phone calls to their homes. Most Americans do not have the means for this option. I also feel the FCC should ban the use of computers to make calls to a home. I do not feel that charities, politicians or political parties, or anyone should be able to call my home either if I am on a no-call list. I write down the name of every charity who calls. That way I can ensure that I never give to them or anyone affiliated with them. PLEASE DO NOT APPROVE THE BANKS BEING ABLE TO CIRCUMVENT THE Indiana NO-CALL LAW.

Thank you
